AWARD-WINNING highways engineering firm Sanderson Associates has appointed a new engineering technician in an expansion of the business.

Lee Foxon will be based at the firm's Grange Moor office, working on Sanderson's large portfolio of major highways and development projects.

Sanderson Associates currently employs 40 staff on its highways, transport and water engineering projects across Britain.

Earlier this year, the firm was named Business of the Month in a competition run by solicitors firm Eaton Smith and the Mid Yorkshire Chamber of Commerce.
