YORKSHIRE POST THURSDAY JULY 22 2010

Firm's highway to a career

Sanderson Associates has launched a new website about the world of highways engineering to encourage people to enter the profession.

The highways engineering firm, based at Grange Moor, near Huddersfield, is sponsoring the website to promote highways engineering across the country.

The site www.highwayengineer.co.uk includes an engineer working in the various stages of a development proposal from the concept to physically getting started on site.
