

Agency strengthens team with head of PR

APPOINTMENTS

MARKETING communications agency Turn Key has strengthened its team with the appointment of Claire Davis as head of PR.

Davis joins the Leeds agency from Harrogate-based Acceleris where she spent five years working across a range of accounts.

She has experience in developing strategic campaigns for both consumer and B2B, across a range of sectors including professional services, public sector, food and drink, leisure and hospitality and retail.

Law firm Addleshaw Goddard has announced the internal promotion of two of its Leeds-based managing associates to the firm's partnership. They are James Reynolds (construction) and Emma Whiting (employment).

The firm has promoted seven managing associates in total across their three offices in Leeds, London and Manchester.

An experienced birth injury solicitor has joined the personal injury department as a partner at the Sheffield office of national law firm Irwin Mitchell.

Suzanne Goodall has joined as partner within the clinical negligence team at the firm's Riverside offices.

She has more than 20 years' experience as a personal injury lawyer, and first became a law firm partner in 1992 as the head of personal injury at Jones Goodall, based in Wakefield.

As well as being a referral panel solicitor for independent charity Action against Medical Accidents, which promotes better patient safety and justice for people who have been affected by a medical accident, she is also an accredited clinical negligence solicitor with the Law Society.

Sanderson Associates, the Huddersfield-based consulting engineers, has promoted Bob Greenwood, Peter Maurice and Jason McKellar to the posts of associate director.

Craig Squelch has been appointed as general manager at Woodlands Leeds, the flagship hotel of the Tomahawk Group, which also owns Aston Hall, in Sheffield, and the Great Victoria, in Bradford. Woodlands was the first hotel to be opened by the group five years ago. Mr Squelch, who lives in Ripon, trained at the Ripon Spa hotel where he became deputy general manager, before taking up the post of general manager at Aston Hall, three years ago. He was made a director of the Tomahawk Group last year.

Business recovery and insolvency practitioner Edward Klemпка is joining Begbies Traynor.

Mr Klemпка was previously a partner with PricewaterhouseCoopers where he was involved in a number of high-profile receiverships and administrations.

His appointment comes as Mike Saville, a partner in the Leeds office of Begbies Traynor since 2004, takes up an international role and moves to the Cayman Islands where he will set up a new office for Begbies Traynor. He will take up his new role early next month.
