

15th September 2009 - Yorkshire Post

■ Highway engineering consultants Sanderson Associates have appointed Lee Foxon as an engineering technician.

Mr Foxon, who is based at the company's headquarters at Grange Moor, near Huddersfield, is a member of one of the detailed design teams, where he will be working on major highways and development projects within the company's large portfolio.

Sanderson Associates currently employs 40 staff and is working on highway, transportation and water engineering projects across Britain.